Superintendent's Corner

Hello members,

With the spring equinox taking place this past Sunday, we have officially passed the halfway point between winter and summer. Water is up and running on the course and as expected there were some breaks and leaks to iron out first thing. Our new crew is being trained on irrigation to address issues in a timelier fashion. Also, because of our limited water output capacity, expect some roughs to be watered sporadically during the day.

Bunkers are nearly finished, and new sand is being installed, packed, and shaped with playability in mind. Greens are healthy and starting to see growth and with all the traffic that the course saw through the weekend, it was great to see that ball marks were minimal. Thank you! You may have seen the new ball washing stations at tee boxes 1 and 2, these will be installed at all 9 tee boxes. They are some of the best on the market so I hope you enjoy them. This week's weather looks to be stellar for golfing so get out there and enjoy the course!
