Weekly Update

Fire season is upon us and we have had smoke off and on for the last week. Today, is the worst so far with the Air Quality in the high 200 range. This means the air is hazardous and it is recommended to stay indoors or limit your time outdoors. We are also getting some rain today, we hope this will help mitigate the fires in the mountains and hope to have clear skies this weekend.

This is our last week for Office hours open from 8-6. Starting Sunday the 18th, we will be open 7 days a week from 9-5.

Golfers,

Superintendent's Corner

We have an exciting week ahead of us. The PUD Employee Appreciation Day will be taking place this Thursday. Be aware that all of Thursday the course will be reserved and closed for PUD events taking place. This weekend also brings the Fall South Park Invitational. The course will be reserved for this event Friday evening after 4:00 pm with the last available tee time scheduled for 1:30 pm. Saturday and Sunday are the opposite. The course will open after 4:00 pm those days. I regret that I will not be able to make it this time around, but I know it will be a blast!

Rain is in the forecast for the month of September, which should hopefully help clear up some of the smoke and haze. The greens are in excellent condition and will be receiving another round of fertilizer, wettings agents, and other nutrition this week. We have lowered the height-of-cut once again but will soon be raising that once we have aerated and the colder nights start to set in. So, get out there and putt around on them while they are at their finest and in their fastest condition! Thank you and enjoy the course.
